RTBU National Privacy Policy

1. Introduction

The RTBU is committed to providing information and services that are relevant to you. In order to do so, this may mean that the RTBU will collect and use personal information. This information may be in electronic or paper form.

That is why we are committed to complying with the Privacy Act 1998 (Cth) (Privacy Act) and the Australian Privacy Principles (APPs). This Privacy Policy (policy) should be read in conjunction with the Privacy Act and APPs.

Personal information held by the union may include information provided to us: on membership application forms; during campaigns; and on individual files that are created when members have a matter that the union is handling on their behalf.

The RTBU only collects personal information that is necessary for it to perform its functions and/or activities.

Members wishing to access their personal information in accordance with this policy should first contact their RTBU Branch.

The RTBU will not disclose information of a personal nature in a manner contradictory to the Australian Privacy Principles and this policy. Every effort will be made to ensure information is stored securely and access limited to undertaking the functions and/or activities of the RTBU.

In very limited circumstances, some information of a personal nature may also be provided to an external organisation in order for the union to conduct its business.

For more information about this privacy policy, please contact your local RTBU Branch or the RTBU National Office.

2. How this Policy applies

This Policy applies to personal information the Union collects from you:

- via one of our websites;
- via social media;
- via telephone;
- via email;
- via fax;
- in person; and/or
- in writing.

3. The purposes for which personal information is collected, held, used and disclosed

The RTBU collects, holds, uses and discloses your personal information to:

- assist you with industrial relations and employment queries;
- inform you about industrial, social and political campaigns;
- inform you about your rights at work;
- inform you about changes to legislation;
- refer you to a legal practitioner, accountant or other professional;
- improve our service delivery;
- manage our relationship with you;
- conduct surveys and research;
- provide educational services and professional development;
- conduct Union elections;

4. The kinds of information the Union may collect

From time to time you may voluntarily supply your personal information to the Union. The Union will record your e-mail address if you send us a message, subscribe to an email newsletter, or complete a form if this information is requested.

When you provide your personal information, it allows us, for example, to assist you with industrial relations and employment queries, inform you about industrial, social and political campaigns, and accept your application for membership. You may supply personal information to the RTBU by, for example, responding to a survey, filling in a meeting attendance sheet, taking part in a competition, completing a membership form, discussing your issues with a delegate, or signing up to a campaign.

The RTBU only collects personal information that is necessary for the Union to perform its functions and/or activities.

Depending upon the circumstances you may provide to the RTBU, and the RTBU may collect, information such as, but not limited to:

- your name;
- your contact details;
- your social media details (e.g. blogs, twitter, Facebook, LinkedIn);
- your gender;
- your marital status;
- your employment details;
- your educational qualifications; and
- your inquiry or complaint details.

The Privacy Act allows the Union to collect sensitive information which relates solely to Union members or people who have regular contact with the Union if the sensitive information relates to the Union's activities. We will only collect sensitive information where we have received your consent to your personal information being collected, used, disclosed and stored by the RTBU in accordance with this Policy.

Some personal information is considered sensitive information and includes:

- your political opinions;
- your political party membership (if any);
- your union membership (if any);
- your racial or ethnic origin;
- your sexual orientation;
- any disabilities, illnesses or injuries you may have; and/or
- any other health information.

Where you provide information to the RTBU in relation to a job application, the personal information you provide will only be collected, held, used and disclosed for the purposes of considering your potential employment with the Union. Where you provide the details of referees, you confirm that you have informed the referees that you are providing their contact information to the RTBU and they have consented to the RTBU contacting them and discussing the personal information you have provided in relation to the job application.

We will collect personal information only by lawful and fair means. We will only collect personal information about you from you unless it is unreasonable or impracticable to do so.

You can choose to interact with us anonymously or by using a pseudonym where it is lawful and practicable. For example, you may wish to participate in a blog or enquire about a particular campaign anonymously or under a pseudonym. Your decision to interact anonymously or by using a pseudonym may affect the level of services we can offer you. For example, we may not be able to assist you with a specific industrial enquiry or investigate a privacy complaint on an anonymous or pseudonymous basis. We will inform you if this is the case and let you know the options available to you.

If we receive unsolicited personal information about or relating to you and we determine that such information could have been collected in the same manner if we had solicited the information, then we will treat it in the same way as solicited personal information and in accordance with the APPs. Otherwise if we determine that such information could not have been collected in the same manner as solicited personal information, and that information is not contained in a Commonwealth record, we will, if it is lawful and reasonable to do so, destroy the information or de-identify the information.

5. Union websites

The RTBU websites may collect two types of information. The first type is anonymous information. The web server may make a record of your visit and logs the following information for statistical purposes:

- the user's server address;
- the user's top level domain name (e.g. com, .gov, .net, .au, etc.);
- the date and time of the visit to the site;
- the pages accessed and documents downloaded;
- the previous site visited; and
- the type of browser used.

No attempt will be made to identify users or their browsing activities except, in the unlikely event of an investigation, where a law enforcement agency may exercise a warrant to inspect the internet service provider's logs.

Another way information may be collected is through the use of "cookies". A cookie is a small text file that the website may be placed on your computer. Cookies may be used, among other things, to track the pages you have visited, to remember your preferences and to store information about you.

You can adjust your Internet browser to disable cookies or to warn you when cookies are being used. However, if you disable cookies, you may not be able to access certain areas of the Website or take advantage of the improved web site experience that cookies offer.

Our websites may contain links to other websites and social media pages including Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn. We are not responsible for the privacy policies of the entities responsible for those websites and we recommend that you review the privacy policies applicable to any other websites you visit.

6. Using your information for direct marketing

You consent to our use and disclosure of your personal information for the purposes of direct marketing which may include providing you with information about events, products or services which may be of interest to you;

If you do not want us to use your personal information for direct marketing purposes, you may elect not to receive direct marketing at the time of providing your personal information to us.

7. Unsubscribing and opting out

If you no longer wish to receive direct marketing or other communications, you may request at any time to cancel your consent to such communications as follows:

- If subscribing to an email newsletter you may “unsubscribe” at any time from the newsletter mailing list;
- The Union may, from time to time, send you text messages about issues of importance such as meetings, events or campaigns. You may “opt out” by texting STOP in reply to a text message from the Union; or
- You may contact us at any time by mail or email directed to your local RTBU Branch or National Office.

8. Disclosure of your personal information

The Union may disclose your personal information, in connection with or to further the purposes outlined above, to:

- the ACTU;
- other Australian trade unions;
- affiliated trades halls or labour councils;
- political parties;
- government bodies or agencies (including the Fair Work Commission, the Fair Work Ombudsman, the Australian Tax Office, an anti-discrimination body, a work/occupational health and safety regulator);
- organisations to whom we outsource functions (including information technology providers, print service providers, mail houses);
- otherwise as you have consented; and/or
- otherwise as required by law.

If any of these organisations are located outside Australia, you expressly consent to us disclosing your personal information to those organisations.

We take reasonable steps to ensure that each organisation that we disclose your personal information to is committed to protecting your privacy and complies with the Australian Privacy Principles, or is subject to a law or scheme that is at least substantially similar to the way in which the Australian Privacy Principles protect information.

By providing your personal information to the RTBU, you consent to us transferring your personal information to such other organisations.

9. How the Union holds personal information

Wherever reasonably practicable the RTBU holds electronic personal information on data servers that are owned and controlled by the Union in Australia. The data servers are password protected and login secured. However, by providing personal information to the RTBU you consent to your information being stored and processed on a data server or data servers (e.g. cloud services) owned by a third party or third parties that may be located outside of Australia. The RTBU will take reasonable steps to ensure that any third party providers comply with the APPs. If personal information is only routed through servers located outside of Australia – this not regarded as a disclosure.

Wherever reasonably practicable the Union holds physical personal information in access controlled premises.

When the Union no longer requires your personal information for a specific purpose and we are not required to keep it to comply with any laws, we will take such steps as are reasonable in the circumstances to destroy your personal information or to ensure that the information is de-identified.

10. Government Identifiers

We will not adopt as our own identifier a government related identifier of an individual, such as a tax file number or Medicare card number and will only use or disclose a government related identifier where the use or disclosure:

- is reasonably necessary for the Union to verify your identity for the purposes of our activities or functions;
- is reasonably necessary for the Union to fulfil its obligations to an agency or a State or Territory authority;
- is required or authorised by or under an Australian law; or
- is reasonably necessary for one or more enforcement related activities conducted by, or on behalf of, an enforcement body.

11. How you may seek access and/or correction to personal information held by the RTBU

You have the right to request access to your personal information and request that it be updated or corrected. In most cases you can gain access to your personal information that the RTBU holds. To request access to, correction of, or updating of any personal information held about you, please write to your local RTBU Branch or National Office at:

Rail, Tram and Bus Union
Suite 210
4 Goulburn St
SYDNEY NSW 2000

General enquiries can also be made via telephone by calling your local RTBU Branch.

The RTBU requires that you provide proof of identity in order to seek access to your personal information. The RTBU may charge a reasonable fee where access is provided, and the RTBU will endeavour to provide access within 30 days of a valid request. The RTBU may refuse to provide access if permitted to do so by law or under the APPs.

You should contact the RTBU when your personal information details change. It is important that we keep our membership details up to date. Please contact your local RTBU Branch or National Office to update any personal information. The Union may also take steps to update your personal information by reference to publicly available sources such as telephone directories or electoral rolls.

12. How you may complain about a breach of the APPs

To make a complaint about an alleged breach of the APPs please write to your local RTBU Branch or the National Office at:

Rail, Tram and Bus Union
Suite 210
4 Goulburn St
SYDNEY NSW 2000

All complaints must be in writing. Please provide all details about your complaint as well as any supporting documentation to the RTBU.

13. How the RTBU will deal with complaints

The Union will seek to deal with privacy complaints as follows:

- complaints will be treated seriously;
- complaints will be dealt with promptly;
- complaints will be dealt with confidentially;
- complaints will be investigated by the RTBU

The outcome of an investigation will be provided to the complainant where the complainant has provided proof of identity. The RTBU will seek to respond within 30 days of receipt of a valid complaint.

Variations to the Policy

This policy may be varied from time to time by the National Executive or the National Council and an updated version will be posted on the RTBU's websites. Please check our websites regularly to ensure that you have the most recent version of this Policy.
